a) EPC endorsed the recommendation of the General Education Committee to approve the following first year sequences for 1993-94 (in addition to Foundations). (Attachment #1)
   (a) American Culture in Transition
   (b) Environmental Studies
   (c) The Rise of Fascism and the Crisis of Personal Identity
   (d) Reading Nature, Text and Self (one year experiment)
Seconded by R. Troll.

It was noted that in sequence (c) the title of RE 130, Faith in the Christian Church, has been changed to "Introduction to Christian Thought." Also, HI 280, History Colloquium, will replace HI 115 The Rise of Fascism.

There was also discussion about the spring courses in sequence (a) -- PO 264-01 American Political Culture, to be taught by Dean Hammer or RE 120-01, Introduction to Christian Ethics, to be taught by Ann Swahnberg. No decision has been made on D. Hammer's teaching position for next year and those participating in the sequence asked for a little flexibility until the decisions have been made, since it is the preference of the sequence faculty to keep the political science course. D. Lee moved to amend by deleting the alternative course since it is not clear that it will be in the Master Schedule. Seconded by A. Levin and approved.

N. Moline expressed his concern that the Asian sequence had not been approved. L. McCallum asked if a substitute sequence would be offered if any of the four chosen did not have enough students and Dean Selbyg said there would be no substitutions.

The chair called for a vote on the sequences as amended, and the motion passed.
