Swedish Seamen who Deserted in U.S. Ports 1841–1858

Nils William Olsson

During the nineteenth century a number of Swedish immigrant arrivals in America by-passed the official channels and were therefore not listed in the passenger manifests of U.S. ports, nor in the exit lists or police records in Sweden. These are the not inconsiderable number of Swedish seamen who jumped ship in American ports, many of them to stay on permanently.

These deserters constituted a fairly large portion of the merchant marine crews which manned the many Swedish vessels, which crossed the Atlantic, carrying Swedish iron, hemp, tar and lumber products to America in exchange for tobacco, rice, cotton and other desirable American exports.¹ Obviously these abscondings put a great strain on the ship's master, who usually together with the Swedish consul in the port in question, had to locate the errant crew members before the vessel's departure or failing in this, had to attempt to procure new seamen. The pressure placed on the captain in these situations, to replace deserting crews, abetted in turn the desire of the seamen to "take a walk", knowing that they could always sign on board the next Swedish vessel to call at the port.

The motives for deserting a vessel were many and can easily be understood. After a long and arduous voyage, often in inclement weather, aboard a cramped ship, it must have been very tempting to ashore in such exotic ports to Scandinavians, as New York, New Orleans, Charleston and Savannah. American merchantmen usually paid higher wages than the Swedes and Swedish sailors therefore were often disposed to shift their allegiance from a Swedish to an American master. The personal relationship between a master and a crew member could often influence the sailor to leave the ship in the next port, hoping thereby to sign on another vessel, where the captain might be more amenable.

News of the gold finds in California had begun to trickle back to Sweden and must have constituted an irresistible urge for sailors to slip away from their ships in order to seek their fortunes in this new Eldorado. The abundance of cheap and verdant land in the American West must also have been a powerful magnet to lure many a sailor to exchange the perilous work on the high seas for a safer and perhaps a more profitable career as an American landowner. Whatever the motives, the net result was that flocks of Swedish seamen refused to continue the voyage home from American ports, taking instead a holiday ashore, which sometimes stretched into permanent settling.

Not all deserters remained in the U.S. Many returned to Sweden, only to come back on a new voyage, then to abscond for the second time, this time probably for good. Others, on the other hand, remained in the U.S. a few months or a few years and then returned to their native land to enter new professions or as seasoned sailors to continue as sea captains.

Thanks to the excellent records kept by the Swedish seamen hiring halls (sjömanshus), it is possible today to trace the movements of Swedish seamen, going back more than 200 years. The sjömanshus were governmental institutions, organized for ships' masters as well as merchant marine crews dating back to 1748. Four years later, in 1752, these sjömanshus were given a royal charter, established to control the activities of Swedish merchant shipping, ship owners, ships' masters as well as ships' crews. The rules governing these institutions were up-dated from time to time to reflect the changing times. The main purposes of these sjömanshus were to gather and disseminate information concerning all merchant shipping of Swedish registry, measuring more than 20 tons, to keep a record of all Swedish merchantmen sailing under the Swedish flag and to render financial assistance to sailors in time of need as well as to provide for the widows and minor children of sailors who perished at sea or who died in the service. Eventually sjömanshus were established in nearly fifty Swedish cities, ranging from Haparanda in the north to Ystad in the south. Every Swedish sailor and ship's master had to register in the sjömanshus in his district. There he was given his seaman's passport (sjöfartsbok), in which masters could log the voyages in which the seamen participated, their dates of service, their accomplishments and their deportment. Infractions of rules and punishments meted out were also made a part of the record. The book was inspected by the ombudsman in charge of the sjömanshus, before the seaman could sign anew on board the next vessel.

Every sjömanshus had its own board of directors, made up of five persons — two representing the ship owners, one the masters, one the second officers and one representing the seamen. The sjömanshus were under the supervision of the Royal Swedish Board of Trade (Kommerskollegium), which also appointed a sixth member, an ombudsman, who was independent of the board, but who was in charge of the administrative details of the hiring hall. It was he who made up the crew lists or ships' rosters, signed on the seaman and paid them off. He also served as referee in minor altercations between masters and crew members.

It is these crew lists which interest us the most, for these are the documents which can provide a great deal of information concerning the individual sailor and his peregrinations. These ships' rosters are to be found in the provincial archives in Sweden, serving the same district where the sjömanshus is located.

The document analyzed in this particular essay stems from the sjömanshus in Stockholm, now on deposit in the Stockholm City Archives (Stockholms stadsarkiv), where it bears the signum D1h:1 (1841-1859). Although the original document is marked with the dates 1841-1859, the actual list ends with the year 1858. It provides information concerning each sailor who absconded, his name, his age, his marital status, birth place (the first name listed) and his domicile (where it is entered, it follows the birth place). The date of his registering at the sjömanshus is given, the name of the master with whom he sailed, the port in which he deserted and the date of that desertion. Occasionally the list also includes supplementary information regarding the sailor's subsequent return to Sweden. All of these facts are very important to the genealogist and have been included in the printed version below, i.e. with the exception of the captain's name, which has been eliminated since this information does not add significantly to the data presented.

Where additional information has been found in the extant literature concerning the sailor, this information has been placed in notes at the end of the article. It should be noted that there are a few duplications, where the sailor has, as mentioned earlier, returned to Sweden, only to desert the vessel again on his return to the U.S.

The list includes all desertions on a world-wide basis and contains a total of 994 names for the period 1841-1858, but only for those seamen registered in the Stockholm sjömanshus. Of this number a total of 437 seamen absconded in U.S. ports, for a total of 44% of the whole.

The average age of each deserter was 23.8 years and on the basis of a breakdown of the ages for the various categories of these sailors, we find that approximately half of the deserters were between the ages of 20 and 26. Below is a listing by age and the numbers in each age bracket:

Age	Number	Age	Number

Document issued for Wilhelm Lindström, a Swedish sailor, at the sjömanshus in Gävle.

A breakdown of the employment categories of the sailors involved, from mate to cabin boy, shows the following statistics:

Deck hands	151
Able-bodied seamen	102
Ordinary seamen	59
Cooks	52
Ships' carpenters	31
Gunners	18
Cabin boys	17
Mates	3
Boatswains	2
Apprentices	2
Total	437

The list given below attempts to document all of the Swedish deserters who sailed on ships registered in Stockholm during the period mentioned. In order to conserve space the various categories of duties aboard the vessel have been abbreviated as follows:

Swedish	English	Abbreviation
Båtsman	Boatswain	B
Jungman	Deck hand	DH
Kajutvakt	Cabin boy	CB
Kock	Cook	C
Konstapel	Gunner	G
Lättmatros	Ordinary seaman	OS
Matros	Able-bodied seaman	AB
Prentis	Apprentice	A
Styrman	Mate	M
Timmerman	Ship's carpenter	SC

There were 35 seamen who were married, representing 8% of the total number. These have been identified by the addition of a cross (+), inserted just before the name itself.

Year	No. of Swedish vessels
1844	14
1845	8
1846	16
1847	37
1848	18
1849	29
1850	34

— U.S. Consular Reports from Göteborg to the Dept. of State, 1844–1850, National Archives, Washington, DC.

² He is probably identical with Fredrik Vilhelm Victor Silfverswärd, b. in Stockholm May 12, 1824, s. of Carl Adolf Silfverswärd, a customs inspector, and Anna Elisabeth Brandel. He went to sea in 1840 and had not been heard from since 1855. — Gustaf Elgenstierna, Den introducerade svenska adelns ättartavlor, I–IX (Stockholm 1925–1936), VII, p. 258.

³ He is probably identical with Mattias Norby, b. in Gotland March 27, 1817, s. of Mattias Norby, sea captain, and Ingrid Margareta Engedahl. — C.J. Hallgren, Gotländska släkter (Visby 1926), p. 387.

⁷ Perhaps he is identical with a rigger named Augustus Sandbloom, who in 1850–1851 was residing at 396 Water St., New York City. — Daggett, New York City Directory for 1850–1851, p. 439.

- ⁸ In Oct. 1844 Delin returned to Sweden as a mate aboard the Swedish ship Prinsessan Josefina. He continued on board the same ship until July 6, 1846, when he was paid off in Stockholm. He might be identical with Nikolaus Dahlin or as he called himself later, Nicholas Delin, who was the first white man to settle on land which later became a part of the city of Tacoma, WA. Delin came to the State of Washington by way of New York and California in 1849 and settled in Tumwater, where he and two other men built a sawmill in 1852. Later he settled in Seattle, thereafter in Olympia, WA and finally in Portland, OR, where he d. in 1882. — Svante Löfgren, "The Early Swedish Settlements of Washington", in The American Swedish Historical Museum Yearbook 1946 (Philadelphia 1946), p. 27.
- ⁹ A Swedish jeweler, age 34, by the name of O. T. Landgren was living in New York City Aug. 7, 1850. — U.S. Census, NY, Vol. XLVII, 767.
- ¹⁰ He probably is identical with Nils August Djurberg, b. in Stockholm in 1828, s. of Fredrik Oscar Djurberg, a baker, and Agnes Sophia Djurberg. As a former sea captain he was living in Stockholm in 1891 with his wife, Emma Christina Charlotta Wahlbäck, b. in 1838. — Örnberg, Svenska ättartal, VII, p. 159.
- ¹¹ Henrik Wilhelm Zander, b. in Linköping in 1826, s. of Jonas Henrik Zander, dyer. He was residing in Sonora, CA May 9, 1858, when he was listed as a miner. — Axel Setterdahl, Östgöta nation i Lund 1668–1913 (Linköping 1913), p. 294.
- ¹² Hjalmar Esaias Sillén, b. in Uppsala May 14, 1824, s. of Nils Jacob Sillén, professor, and Johanna Gustava Sillén. He became a sea captain and d. in Stockholm Dec. 6, 1882. — Anders Edestam, Karlstads stifts herdaminne, I–V + Index (Karlstad 1965–1976), III, p. 25.
- ¹³ Carl Adam Juringius was the s. of Carl Adam Juringius, Sr., lieutenant and innkeeper in Nyköping, with one of his two wives — Fredrika Markward or Anna Charlotta Pettersson. He emigr. to America. — Örnberg, Svenska ättartal, VI, p. 211.
- ¹⁴ Johan Petter Norby, b. in Gotland March 5, 1819, s. of Petter Christian Norby, sea captain, and Maria Elisabeth Hoffman. — Hallgren, Gotländska släkter, p. 387.
- ¹⁵ Johan Petterson writing from San Francisco in Gotlands läns tidning March 26, 1852, mentions two former residents of Visby — Höglund and Ronhqvist, residing in California, who wished to be remembered to their relatives in Gotland. — Information courtesy Dr. Erik Wikén, Stockholm.
- ¹⁶ Carl Åke Leipzig Sabelfelt, b. in Stockholm Jan. 31, 1829, s. of Adolf Sabelfelt, a major, and Anna Magdalena Rydeberg. He went to sea in 1841, but later moved to California. He must have returned to Sweden soon after his first desertion, inasmuch as he jumped ship again in New York Jan. 26, 1848. — Elgenstierna, Svenska adelns ättartavlor, VI, p. 660.
- ¹⁷ He is probably identical with Carl August Magnusson, b. in Lundby Parish, 23 years old, who signed on board the Swedish schooner Aegir in Göteborg and then deserted in Baltimore May 11, 1849. — Göteborg Sjömanshus avmönstringsrulla 1849 in Landsarkivet, Göteborg.
- ¹⁸ He is probably identical with Erik Johan Brännström, a sailor from Luleå, who received a passport in Stockholm July 19, 1848 for travel to America and arr. in New York Sept. 29, 1848 aboard the ship Henry Nesmith. — Nils William Olsson, Swedish Passenger Arrivals in New York 1820–1850 (Stockholm and Chicago 1967) (SPANY), pp. 152–153.
- ¹⁹ Johan Petter Falck, b. in Gotland in 1825, s. Magnus Petter Falck, sea captain, and Christina Elisabeth Stenström. He moved to Stockholm in 1847 and was never heard from again. — Emil Nyberg, Gotländsk släktbok (Visby 1937), p. 190.
- ²⁰ C. W. Helander, a native of Sweden, declared his intention of becoming a U.S. citizen in the Fourth District Court of California May 16, 1855 and received his U.S. citizenship in the Circuit Court of the Northern District of California Sept. 6, 1859. — Certificates of Citizenship of the Circuit Court of the U.S. for the Northern District of California, Vol. IV, Sept. 1857–Oct., 1860, Federal Records Center, San Bruno, CA.
- ²¹ Either the registration date or the arrival date in New York is an error. It would not be possible that he could have arrived in New York prior to his registration date in Stockholm.
- ²² Victor Emanuel Insulin received a passport in Stockholm Sept. 23, 1848 for himself and his wife, Anna Charlotta Boberg, for travel to New York for a period no longer than six months. — Överståthållareämbetets passjournal för 1848, Stockholm City Archives.
- ²³ Perhaps he is identical with L. A. Mollin, seaman, who received a passport in Karlskrona July 13, 1841 for travel to New York in order to seek employment. — Blekinge Landskansli passjournal (1841–1848), Landsarkivet, Lund; information courtesy Dr. Erik Wikén, Stockholm.
- ²⁴ Carl Ludvig Westerberg, b. in Katarina Parish, Stockholm Sept. 4, 1826, s. Jan Westerberg, stededore (järnbärare), and Christina Catharina Wennberg (Winberg). He received a passport in Stockholm July 6, 1848, at which time he produced his seaman's passport. He arr. in New York Sept. 29, 1848 aboard the ship Henry Nesmith. He and his brother Johan Theodor Westerberg (see note 27 below) appeared before the Swedish Norwegian vice consul in Baltimore, Frederick B. Graf, in February of 1855, in order to affix their signatures to a document involving their mother's last will and testament. Carl Ludvig returned to Sweden in 1856 and admitted to the clergyman in Katarina Parish that he was the father of his dau. Sophia Mathilda, b. in America Aug. 4, 1850. He subsequently m. in Stockholm and d. there in 1876. — Olsson, SPANY, pp. 152, 153, 273; information courtesy Dr. Erik Wikén, Stockholm.

- ²⁵ Anders Fredrik Calwagen, not Carlwagen, b. 1823, s. of Fredrik Magnus Calwagen, notary public in Stockholm, and Lovisa Gröndahl. When an estate inventory was held in Stockholm after the death of the father in 1855, Anders Fredrik was listed as having d. in 1854. — Ernst Grape, "Släkten Grape", privately owned manuscript.
- ²⁶ Paul (Paulus) Romare, b. in Torekov Parish (Krist.) Nov. 20, 1828, s. of Paulus Romare, sea captain, and Petronella Lovisa Ludvigsson. He became a sailor, departed for America, but deserted in New York and then signed on board various American merchantmen, travelling to Cuba, Mexico and the West Indies. In 1850 he settled in Coopersville, SC as an interpreter for a Swedish countryman, who operated an iron works (probably Carl Wilhelm Hammarskjöld, who in 1850 had settled in Coopersville, Union County, SC). In 1854 Romare returned to Sweden, procured the official exit permit from his home parish and returned to South Carolina, where he secured a position as clerk in a bank in Chester. During the Civil War he saw service in the Confederate Army. After the war he moved to Atlanta, GA, where he joined the Atlanta National Bank. Here he stayed for the remainder of his life, working his way upward from a clerk to the vice presidency. He m. Lucy Fisher in Camden, SC in 1863. He d. in Atlanta Feb. 8, 1904. — Prärieblomman (Rock Island, IL 1905), p. 203; Nels Hokanson, Swedish Immigrants in Lincoln's Time (New York 1942), p. 30; information courtesy Sten Bergendahl, Landsarkivet, Lund; Memoirs of Georgia (Atlanta, GA), pp. 917-918; Lucian Lamar Knight, A Standard History of Georgia and Georgians (Chicago 1917), Vol. VI, pp. 3072-3075; Nils William Olsson, Swedish Passenger Arrivals in U.S. Ports 1820-1850 (except New York), pp. 82-83.
- ²⁷ Johan Theodor Westerberg, brother of Carl Ludvig Westerberg, (see note 24 above), b. in the Katarina Parish in Stockholm May 20, 1821. He returned to Sweden, where he received a passport in Stockholm July 6, 1848 for travel to New York for himself and his wife, Anna Christina Högström, b. in the Finnish Parish in Stockholm Sept. 30, 1818, dau. Mathias Högström, mate, and Eva Catharina Mark. They both arr. in New York Sept. 29, 1848 aboard the ship Henry Nesmith. — Olsson, SPANY, pp. 152-153; information courtesy Dr. Erik Wikén, Stockholm.
- ²⁸ Carl Johan Eric Fahlsten, b. presumably in Bro Parish (Gotl.) in 1823. He eventually reached San Francisco, CA, where he assumed the name of Edwards and became a charter member of the Scandinavian Society of San Francisco. For a fuller treatment of Fahlsten, see Nils William Olsson, "Emigrants from Gotland to America 1819-1890", in Swedish American Genealogist, Vol. II, pp. 104, 108.
- ²⁹ Perhaps he is identical with Peter Miller, 24 years old, b. in Landskrona, Sweden, who enlisted in the U.S. Army in New York June 16, 1851 as a recruit. He deserted June 21, 1851, was apprehended July 7 the same year and finally separated from the service at Carlisle Barracks, PA Aug. 5, 1851 for disability. — Register of Enlistments in the U.S. Army 1798-1914, Vol. 49, p. 163, National Archives, Washington, DC.
- ³⁰ Perhaps he is identical with Fredrik Engström, mate from Norrlanda Parish (Gotl.), who emigr. to America in 1852. — Personregister till Statistiska Centralbyråns i Stockholm förteckningar över emigranter 1851-1860.
- ³¹ Anders Wilhelm Retzius, b. in Stockholm Dec. 27, 1829, s. Anders Adolf Retzius, professor, and Wendela Sophia Westerberg. He became an architect and d. in Columbus, OH Feb. 5, 1850. — A.
