EmiWeb?

Maybe you have heard of EmiWeb, but what is it?

EmiWeb is the first web-based archive of its kind covering migration to and from Scandinavia. It is a profit organization within non-profit organizations. The purpose is to get archives online and contribute to non-profit organizations's research and development.

Archives in EmiWeb

- Minnesota State Census (External archive)
- The Swedish American emigrant photo collection
- Dalsland descendants born in America
- Swedish American association members
- Swedes leaving from Kristiania
- Swenson Center photo collection
- Swedish American book index
- The Danish emigration database
- Swedish emigration
- Swedish immigration (Gävleborg, Västernorrland, Örebro and Värmland counties)
- Obituaries from Swedish-American newspapers
- Obituaries from Värmland newspapers

Some of the non-profit organizations that own EmiWeb:

Swedish American Center, Karlstad.
Göteborgs-Emigranten, Göteborg.
The Swedish Emigrant Institute, Växjö.
The City Archives of Örebro/ Örebro genealogists, Örebro.
The Norwegian Emigrant Museum, Hamar, Norway.
The Danish Emigration Archives, Aalborg, Denmark.
Swenson Swedish Immigration Research Center, Rock Island, IL, USA.
The Åland Islands' Emigrant Institute, Mariehamn, Finland.
Mellerud Museum and Genealogy Archive, Mellerud.

Some of the databases:

Association members

This database, compiled by Bertil Grundström, lists some 31,000 members of the Svithiod and Viking societies of Chicago, and members of the Swedish Brothers of Minneapolis, and the Västgötaförbundet. It can be the clue to finding where an immigrant settled.

The Swedish American book index

This is an index to several old books like Svenskarne i Illinois, The Swed- ish Texans, Washington och dess svenska befolkning. The index is searchable by names, and shows the exact page for the person you are looking for.

These are just a few of the valuable databases in EmiWeb.
