Church Anniversary Booklets and Church Histories

Are you wondering what to do with old anniversary booklets from historically Swedish-American congregations? The Swenson Center's library collection now holds more than five hundred anniversary booklets from Lutheran, Covenant, Methodist, and Baptist congregations. The booklets document the history of the congregations, provide clues in genealogy searches, and often contain great photographs. You may find them useful in your research and can request them through interlibrary loan through your local library. Search our online library catalog called ALiCat at www.augustana.edu/library for congregations that interest you. We lend them with the restriction of interlibrary use, which means that you can not check them out and take them home, but you can use them at your library and even make photocopies or scan the pages you need.

We will gladly accept your anniversary booklets as donations and add them to the collection. Important to remember before sending any library donation – please contact Anne Jenner at or by writing or calling the Swenson Center with any titles you may have and she will check to see if it is one that we need. We cannot accept duplicates of titles that we already have or any publication in poor condition (smells musty, mildew and/or mold infested, has missing and/or torn pages). For more information about how to make a donation of material, please go to our library web page www.augustana.edu/swenson/library.html and follow the donation link.
