I end this Ahnentafel with Generation XIV. It is possible to go farther back, and while I have material on some lines stretching to Generation XXIII, some of the material is fragmentary and some of it is built on tradition and difficult to substantiate. Beyond 1500 the written documentary sources are difficult to prove. On some of these older generations beyond the XIVth , on the other hand, I have an enormous amount of source material that can be documented and is acceptable to many of Sweden's foremost scholars and genealogists. This could certainly be of use to SAG readers whose ancestral charts I know have carried these lines in the past.

Acknowledgements

Like an individual, no genealogy is the product of one person; rather it is a sum of parts passed down by many. Thanks here must go to the untold many - professional or not - who took time from their busy lives to record and pass on written, verbal and pictorial bits of family history. Thanks also to the untold many who tended those fragile scraps of history and protected them from the elements, from fire, from negligence, from the invading enemy. A special thanks to some more recent in time: to my mother-in-law, Eva Ann (Garske) Rice, who first showed me genealogy and the importance of preserving family history; to my great-uncle Knut Gunnar Winblad von Walter who immigrated to America and lived long enough to get me "on paper" back to the home parish in Sweden; to my distant cousin Pontus Möller, then chief genealogist at the Sweden's House of Nobles, who unlocked the door to genealogy; to my distant cousin, Thord Bylund, chief archivist with SVAR in Sweden, who flung the door open and made me a genealogist for life, to my distant cousin, Roland Carl Gotberg, a Mormon priest in Sandy, Utah, who selflessly worked the Piteå Country Parish records, to Dr. Nils William Olsson, editor of Swedish American Genealogist, who made available his time and hard-to-locate volumes from his personal library. And finally, a thanks in advance to all who will help in the future; for no genealogy is ever complete, and every genealogy needs constant tending and periodic updating.
